Teen-Age Comedy, 'Junior Miss,' Selected By Committee

'Junior Miss,' a three-act comedy by Jerome Chodorov and Joseph Fields, has been selected by South high Juniors as their class play to be given in the school auditorium on Nov. 30.

The action centers around the difficulties of an early-teen-age girl when she tries to manage the affairs of her family.

Thelma Glasford, English and speech teacher, will direct the production. She will be assisted at rehearsals by Marie Bowlius, head of the English department, and Genevieve Marvin, English teacher, and she will announce the cast next week.

The selection committee, which was appointed by Robert Craig, class president, consisted of Patsy Porter, Dana Leffler and Roger Warren.

Proceeds will be used to sponsor the annual Junior-Senior prom which will be held in the spring.

Town Divided On Draft Board's Stand In Refusing Inductions

By JOHN DIETRICH WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, Oct. 19—(UP)—This grim-shaded county seat was divided today on the action taken by its draft board in refusing to induct Fayette-co young men until the federal government does something to stop post-war strikes.

There was no public discussion of the induction embargo. Farmers and townfolk on the village green or in barber shops and stores discussed the late corn crop, coming of winter and other community topics. They only spoke of the board when questioned.

Howard D. Fogle, chairman, reiterated the board's decision to halt all inductions "as long as those unsettled conditions go on."

He stopped painting the windows of his farmhouse a few miles out of town to say that "we don't want to send our boys off to the farm until the country takes some action to stop the strikes. They're demoralizing the nation."

"This is a farming country," Fogle, a Legionnaire, said, "but these strikes affect us as much as anybody."

Fogle said the board had received many letters and telegrams from all sections of the nation. He declined to discuss them, except that one was from a soldier at Crile General hospital. He telegraphed the board that it was on strike as much as the workers in the industrial sections.

In town, where 10,000 persons live in neat, frame houses, draft-age young men said they had no real complaint with the board's action but they felt that it left them out on the limb.

Bob Meriwether, garage mechanic who was one of the nine young men the board sent home when they reported for induction last week, said he thought the board was right, but it sort of leaves us in a bad situation without jobs and everything. We don't mind going in the Army."

Dr. Albert Parry, lecturer on the Rotary club's International Institute program, spoke to the senior high Tuesday on the Russian economic set-up and our attitude toward that country.

Born and educated in Russia, Dr. Parry spoke authoritatively, drawing upon his own experience and first-hand knowledge.

VICTIM FEARED MATE'S VIOLENCE

Repairman Offers New Facts In Michigan Murder

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 19—(UP)—A repairman at the laundry of wealthy Lydia Thompson told authorities today he had heard her express fear of her husband's violence shortly before she was found hacked to death on a lonely roadside last week-end.

Mrs. Thompson told the repairman that her bulky estranged husband, Louis V. Thompson, had struck her "several times" with an ice pick, according to Oakland-co Prosecutor Donald Noggle.

Noggle released the evidence after prolonged questioning of H.

W. Baker, a Highland Park carpenter, who said he had erected a wooden rack at Mrs. Thompson's laundry plant only a few days before she was found slain. Thompson, 48-year-old, automobile dealer, was to be examined in connection with Baker's statement later in the day, Noggle said. He has been held since Monday, when his wife's body was identified by neighbors.

When Mrs. Thompson's rain-soaked body was found in a marsh near a Pontiac lover's lane last Saturday, a coroner's report revealed it contained 13 separate wounds, apparently inflicted by a sharp, pointed instrument. Her neck had been virtually severed by an ax.
